Tennessee Baptists to investigate teachings at three affiliated colleges

By Greg Warner

Associated Baptist Press

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. (ABP)- Tennessee Baptists turned back an attack on “anti-Christian” teaching in public schools but agreed to investigate the biblical views taught in their three affiliated Baptist colleges.

TOGETHER: Priorities map BGCT transformation

The Baptist General Convention of Texas is in the midst of a continuing and exciting transformation. We are determined to recognize the changing realities of the world in which we minister. As we go through this change, we have set six priorities to guide us.

These priorities will guide budgeting and personnel assignments of the Executive Board and the staff. We pray these priority statements will find broad acceptance among our Texas Baptist pastors and churches.

Unto the glory of God, we will:

Church planting leader suggests best way to launch a church is 'START'

By Teresa Young

For Texas Baptist Communications

SAN ANTONIO-Starting new churches is difficult-and often lonely-work, but a simple plan can make the process smoother and more successful, said Abe Zabaneh, director of the Church Multiplication Center of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

CYBERCOLUMN:

Start with love

By Jeanie Miley

“What do you think about her?” I asked my son-in-law about his baby daughter.

Before she was born, he said, repeatedly, “I just can’t wait for her to get here so I can see what she’s like.” Now that she’s been here for 10 weeks, I was curious about what he thought about her.

Around the State

Stephen Von Wyrick, professor in the College of Christian Studies at the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, has been elected president of the American Schools of Oriental Research, Southwest Region. The organization supports and encourages the study of the peoples and cultures of the Near East, from the earliest times to the present.

♦ Dottie Parker has been named the recipient of Hardin-Simmons University's Keeter Alumni Service Award. A 1942 graduate, she serves as chaplain of the alumni association' board of directors, and is a member of the Ex-Cowgirls. She also has served on the school's board of development. She is a member of First Church in Abilene.

Grace Temple Church in Dallas recently honored Betty Hatfield for 50 years of service as pastor's secretary and financial secretary. Beginning in 1954, the first pastor she worked with was Buel Crouch. During her tenure, she has served with seven pastors and six interim pastors. She has no plans to retire. She also is a Sunday school director and sings in the choir.

♦ Juanita Reeder has been named layperson of the year by Abilene Baptist Association. She is a member of South Side Church in Abilene and served as administrative assistant to former Hardin-Simmons University President Jesse Fletcher before retiring from the university.

African-American Texas Baptists want to be full partners in BGCT, leaders say

By Felicia Fuller

For Texas Baptist Communications

SAN ANTONIO-The African American Fellowship of Texas is not merely a mission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. It's a partnership, its leaders say.
