Louisiana College violated accrediting body's standards and internal policies, study says

PINEVILLE, La. (ABP)—Citing “a general climate of fear” and “pervasive mistrust” among faculty, administrators and trustees, a special team of investigators has concluded Louisiana College violated principles of academic freedom and proper board governance.

The report came from a specially appointed study team from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, sent to investigate several recent controversies over academic freedom and other issues at the Louisiana Baptist institution. The study concluded the school had violated both standards set by the regional accrediting body and its own stated college policies in several areas.

“The committee concluded, based upon extensive interviews ... that a significant portion of the board of trustees of Louisiana College are influenced if not controlled by the agenda of the Louisiana Inerrancy Fellowship and the Louisiana Baptist Convention," the report stated.

Voters in 11 states approve bans on same-sex marriage

WASHINGTON (ABP)—Opponents of same-sex marriage got a clean sweep in the Nov. 2 elections, with voters in 11 states—from Michigan to Oregon and from Georgia to North Dakota—passing constitutional amendments to ban gay marriage.

Most of the proposals carried by large margins, according to the most recent figures available. In Mississippi, voters passed their state's ban by an 86-to-14 percent margin. In several other states—Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, North Dakota and Oklahoma—similar bans passed by margins of about three to one.

The amendments in Utah and Montana passed by 66-to-34 percent in each state. Even in Michigan and Oregon—states carried by Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John Kerry-similar bans passed by wide margins (59 to 41 percent in Michigan's case, and 57 to 43 percent in Oregon's).
