

Churches that hit dead end need to turn around, consultant recommends_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Churches that hit dead end need to turn around, consultant recommends

SAN ANTONIO—When a person hits a dead end, he needs to turn around. And congregations that have plateaued or are declining need to do the same thing, according to a Dallas Baptist Association consultant.

Roosevelt Broach, the association's director of church planting and development, noted 85 percent of Southern Baptist churches have either level or declining membership, indicating a lack of healthy congregations.

“We've got to turn it around,” he said. “We've got to stop this.”

African American Fellowship

sets goals for missions growth_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

African American Fellowship sets goals for missions growth

By Janelle Bagci

BGCT Summer Intern

SAN ANTONIO-The African American Fellowship of Texas Baptists intends to raise awareness of student mission opportunities in the next year and increase the number of African-American student summer missionaries by more than 12 times.

Chicago pastor urges church leaders to leave markers for next generation to follow_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Chicago pastor urges church leaders to leave markers for next generation to follow

SAN ANTONIO—Christian leaders need to leave “markers” so future generations will know “where the leadership stood” when God worked through them, Chicago Pastor Lacey Curry said during the African American Fellowship/Church Health and Growth Conference.

Citing the Old Testament story of Joshua telling the Israelites to leave stones marking where God parted the Jordan River, he said such markers tell others “this is where the Lord himself intervened and made possible some things that would not otherwise have been possible.”

Pastor Lacey Curry of Chicago encourages African-American church leaders to leave markers for future generations.
--

Markers help leaders begin correctly, added Curry, pastor emeritus of Emmanuel Baptist Church in Chicago.

Five churches honored for CP giving_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/16/04

Five churches honored for CP giving

SAN ANTONIO—The Baptist General Convention of Texas has honored five African-American congregations for their contributions through the BGCT Cooperative Program in 2003.

The honors are based on resident church membership. The five categories and honorees are:

1-50 members: Good Shepherd Baptist Church, Lubbock; Pastor Robert McKenzie; $5,010.

Voices of Praise deliver musical gospel message to Spain_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Some members of “Voices of Praise”
perform at a
BGCT Church
Multiplication
dinner during the African American
Fellowship/Church
Health and Growth Conference. The group recently returned from a trip to Spain
where more than 100 people made decisions for Christ.

Voices of Praise deliver musical gospel message to Spain

By John Hall

Texas Baptist Communications

SAN ANTONIO—More than 100 people made decisions for Christ when pastors put their musical talent to use during a recent mission trip to Spain.

Understanding differences in personality types can help church staff head off potential conflicts, c

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Understanding differences in personality types can help church staff head off potential conflicts, consultant says

By John Hall

Texas Baptist Communications

SAN ANTONIO-Most church staff difficulties have more to do with personalities than with issues, a Baptist General Convention of Texas consultant said.

Fitness means exercising good stewardship of 'temple,' speaker stresses_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Fitness means exercising good stewardship of 'temple,' speaker stresses

By Ferrell Foster

Texas Baptist Communications

SAN ANTONIO-Being healthy is not just about losing weight and looking good; it's about "physical stewardship" of the body throughout life, fitness trainer Marsha Taplett insisted.

Learning styles of Bible study pupils require varied teaching approaches_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Learning styles of Bible study pupils require varied teaching approaches

By John Hall

Texas Baptist Communications

SAN ANTONIO-The Bible is powerful, but Sunday school teachers need to vary their methods if they are going to make it stick with their students, according to a Baptist General Convention of Texas youth consultant.

Homecoming for children's home stirs memories, sparks gratitude_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Homecoming for children's home stirs memories, sparks gratitude

By Craig Bird

Baptist Child & Family Services

SAN ANTONIO—A trip to the past nourished the souls of former residents of Baptist Child & Family Services who converged on the San Antonio campus for their first alumni reunion in decades.

Former children's home residents fondly recall tasty Mexican meals as one housemother's labor of lov

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Former children's home residents fondly recall

tasty Mexican meals as one housemother's labor of love

By Craig Bird

Baptist Child & Family Services

SAN ANTONIO-Whether it was a grateful gasp of recognition (“he still wears the same hat”) that greeted Leslie Pullin or the public appreciation of Beatrice Gasca Atu (“no other housemother cooked us Mexican food”) for her culinary generosity, former staff members were a welcome part of the alumni reunion at Baptist Child & Family Services.

American confidence in First Amendment up_72604

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

American confidence in First Amendment up

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (ABP)-Americans' confidence in the First Amendment, which fell after the attacks of 9/11, is up again, according to a new survey.

The First Amendment Center in Nashville, Tenn., has released its 2004 survey results on the “State of the First Amendment,” which suggests Americans' concern for protecting freedoms is at levels not seen since before Sept. 11, 2001.

The survey, conducted in conjunction with the American Journalism Review, showed that when asked whether the First Amendment goes too far in the protections it guarantees, 65 percent said it did not, up from 49 percent in the 2002 poll.

Hunger Hounds track down donations to alleviate suffering, fight hunger_72804

July 23, 2004

Posted: 7/23/04

Hunger Hounds track down donations to alleviate suffering, fight hunger

By Janelle Bagci

Texas Baptist Communications

KILGORE-A man and woman living in a shack in the poorest area of town know what it's like to go to sleep hungry. But the mentally disabled epileptic couple still set aside $60 from their meager earnings for world hunger.