LOS ANGELES (ABP)—Groundbreaking international research on Pentecostal and charismatic Christians shows growth in their numbers—and socio-political influence—around the globe.

The 10-nation study, sponsored by the Pew Forum on Religion and Public Life, also found one of the hallmarks of Pentecostalism—speaking in tongues—less prevalent than some might suppose.

Academy honor students spearhead toy drive

Chloe Roche, a ninth grade student and vice president of San Marcos Academy's National Junior Honor Society, tells an academy parent about the "Rescue Buddies" stuffed toy drive.

Students in the academy's honor society are collecting stuffed toys for the San Marcos police department to give to children involved in traumatic situations. On the first day of the drive, launched during the academy's recent parents' weekend, students collected more than 100 stuffed toys and $500. The toy drive continues through the end of the semester in mid-December.

No Longer Suffering in Silence

By Jenny Pope

Buckner Benevolences

One American woman in four is abused by a loved one—physically, sexually, verbally or emotionally.

It's an epidemic widely misunderstood to only affect the poor and uneducated, but abuse affects all communities, regardless of economic status, race, religion or educational background.

TOGETHER:
'We will touch the world from Texas'

There are days in your life that are sad and painful. Tuesday, Oct. 31, was such a day for many of us as we heard the results of our investigation of church starting efforts in the Rio Grande Valley. But despite the sadness and pain, there is room for clear-eyed hope.

The investigators found that there had been mismanagement on the part of a few of our staff and misuse and misappropriation of church starting funds on the part of a few pastors.

Executive Director
BGCT Executive Board

After the report was given to the board, I expressed my deep sorrow over what happened. I regret that I did not force this issue to resolution much earlier. I apologize to every person in the Valley whose cautions, questions and frustrations were neither fully heeded nor resolved.

Now that we understand clearly what happened in our recent past, what will be done?

From the investigators' report ...

- Investigators Diane Dillard and Michael Rodriguez, said Otto Arango told them "he made a lot of money promoting his vision of planting churches and that this created jealousy among some of the Valley pastors."

p. 5

- "It became clear during the investigation that some of the information provided by the BGCT was unreliable. Some documents, such as new-church monthly reports, were found to be fabricated."

pp. 9-10

Stereotypes of religious voters don't fit

By Hannah Elliott

Associated Baptist Press

WACO (ABP)—Stereotypical images of “liberals” and “evangelicals” create a distorted picture of what issues are important to each group and how each will vote in the 2006 elections, new research shows.
