Five commandments for religious Americans in political life

ABILENE—Religious Americans should follow five commandments as they “enter the fray of political life,” Baptist Joint Committee Executive Director

Brent Walker advised.

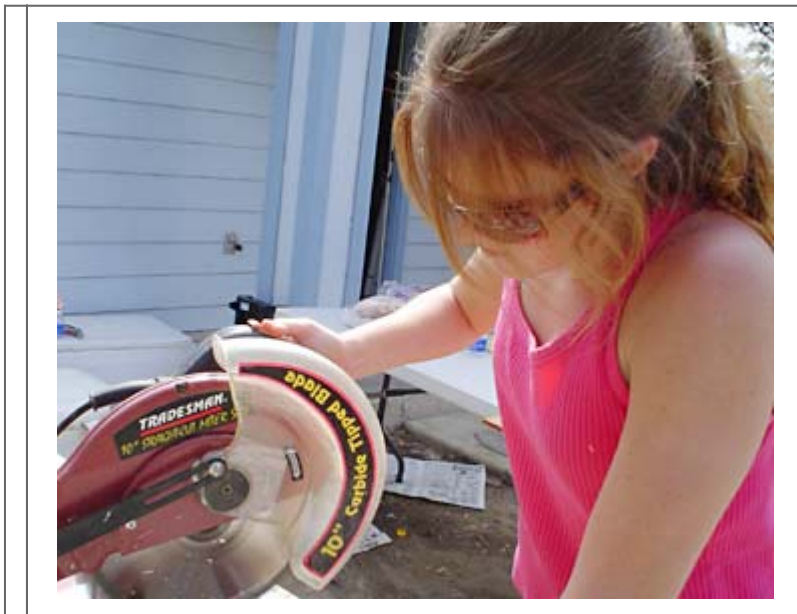

Walker presented his commandments as part of the Maston Christian Ethics Lectures at Hardin-Simmons University's Logsdon School of Theology.

The commandments are:

Texas Senate honors Strickland

AUSTIN—The Texas Senate praised former Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission Director Phil Strickland April 27 for his years of advocacy in the Texas government.

Strickland, who served the Texas CLC nearly 40 years, died in February. He devoted much of his life to improving the quality of life to Texas children, lawmakers noted.

Sen. Jane Nelson, R-Flower Mound, introduced a resolution that communicated condolences to the Strickland family. It passed unanimously.

- Tickets are on sale for the third annual “Singin’ with the Saints” Southern gospel concert for senior adults. It will be held May 18 beginning at 9:45 a.m. in Howard Payne University’s Mims Auditorium. The featured performers will be the Dove Brothers Quartet from Bladenboro, N.C. Other groups will be 4 X Grace from Brownwood and the Brazos Boys Quartet from Abilene. Humorist Lou Brown also will entertain. Tickets are $15, and the price includes lunch. To order, call (800) 950-8465.
- Former members of the steering team for Texas Week at Falls Creek are invited to attend the June 2 evening worship service at the Oklahoma Baptist assembly. Recognition is slated for Texas Baptists who have planned the special emphasis since it was launched in 1963. The 2006 Texas Week, May 29-June 3, marks the end of the tradition, due to increased demand by Oklahoma churches for the use of the conference center. For details, contact Dale Berry at (940) 567-3741.

Seven Howard Payne University football players and two coaches recently helped rancher Raymond Lane rebuild his property in Carbon. Lane lost his home, farm equipment, livestock and miles of fence in fires that struck the area in January. After receiving instructions on how to avoid rattlesnakes, the players put up half a mile of fence to aid Lane in his ongoing effort. Participating in the day's labor were players Jordan Bullard, Dan Pike, Danny Preslar, Marcus Snell, J.T. Norman, Kyle Mossakowski and Jonathan Jones, along with coaches Mike Redwine and Dale Meinecke.

- Ray Martin has been named associate vice president for student life and dean of students at the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor. In addition to continuing his responsibilities as dean of students and providing leadership to campus activities, residence life and health services, he also will supervise the director of campus recreation, and the offices of community service and campus organizations.

“All Churches Great and Small: 60 Ideas for Improving Your Church’s Ministry” by Kirk Farnsworth and Rosie Farnsworth (Judson Press)

Co-pastors Kirk and Rosie Farnsworth, of The Gathering Church in Kingston, Wash., present a thoughtful work on the advantages and strategies of a small church. They build upon a questionable—perhaps flawed—foundation. It is their unwavering opinion that small churches are better churches, assuming larger churches are marred by bureaucracy and the unbiblical standards of numbers, facilities and programs.

Moving beyond this disposition, the authors introduce 10 “life-transforming activities” that apply to small congregations—shepherding, gathering, covenanting, ministering, studying, worshipping, praying, giving, living in the Spirit, and witnessing. With each chapter, the authors offer multiple “ideas for improving your church’s ministry.” These 60 ideas are practical and helpful.
