

Oklahomans give Texas church a lift_63003

October 14, 2003

Posted: 6/27/03

Oklahomans give Texas church a lift

By George Henson

Staff Writer

CRESSON-A group of Christians on mission from Oklahoma sees Cresson as more than “just a stoplight on the way to Granbury.”

---

BGCT to offer more curriculum online_63003

October 14, 2003

Posted: 6/27/03

BGCT to offer more curriculum online

By John Hall

Texas Baptist Communications

The Baptist General Convention of Texas Bible Study/ Discipleship Center plans to offer free online curriculum for children's Bible studies in September.

---

CYBERCOLUMN: Freedom_simpson_63003

October 14, 2003

Posted 6/27/03

CYBERCOLUMN: Freedom

By Berry D. Simpson

In the movie "Braveheart," the last word out of William Wallace's (Mel Gibson) mouth as the English torturer was literally ripping his body apart was "Freedom!" I don't know if that was historically correct, but it was certainly the theme of the entire movie, and it is the justification for many of the things we do.

Freedom, however, is a dangerous thing. When you give someone true freedom they may not use it the way you wanted. They may not use it the right way.

---

Dobson returns to his roots with video series on raising boys_63003

October 14, 2003

Posted: 6/27/03

Dobson returns to his roots with video series on raising boys

By Mark Wingfield

Managing Editor

At the apex of his career, James Dobson has returned to the communication medium that first made him one of the nation's foremost spokesmen for conservative Christian family values.

---

DOWN HOME: Just buggin' you:

count blessings_63003

October 14, 2003

Posted: 6/27/03

DOWN HOME:

Just buggin' you: count blessings

Do you ever wonder if bugs think Independence Day is a holiday too?

The U.S. Census Bureau reports that 66 million Americans participated in a “backyard barbecue” last year. (Of course, many Texans would not call it a “barbecue” unless it involved slathering vast quantities of meat with spicy sauce, but we'll allow the Census people, probably Yankees for the most part, a generous understanding of the term.) “It's probably safe to assume a large number of these events took place on the Fourth” of July, the Census Bureau interpreted.

Americans these days articulate all kinds of ideas, beliefs, creeds and suppositions. But it seems we can agree on one thing: When we have a holiday, we eat. And since much of America is frozen over by Thanksgiving and Christmas, the Census Bureau's estimation that the Fourth of July is the No. 1 “backyard barbecue” day of the year probably is correct.

MARV

KNOX

Editor

---

editorial At Southwestern, Patterson will finish what he started_63003

October 14, 2003

Posted: 6/27/03

EDITORIAL:

At Southwestern, Patterson will finish what he started

Paige Patterson's election to the presidency of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary should help Texas Baptists clarify their feelings about the Fort Worth school. If you like what has happened in the Southern Baptist Convention for the past 25 years, you're going to love what's about to happen to Southwestern. If you don't, you won't.

Patterson, after all, was the theological mastermind of the “conservative resurgence” or “fundamentalist takeover” of the SBC. In the early 1970s, young Patterson, then president of the Criswell Center for Biblical Studies in Dallas, teamed up with Houston judge Paul Pressler to determine how their kind of Baptists—they called themselves “conservatives”; others called them “fundamentalists”—could control the SBC. Pressler figured out how the legal and political mechanism should work. Patterson supplied the theological rationale. They claimed the SBC leadership needed to be changed, because the “liberals” in charge deny the truth of God's word.

Paige Patterson helped engineer the fundamentalist takeover of the Southern Baptist Convention a quarter-century ago; you can count on him to finish the job at Southwestern Seminary.

This “don't believe the Bible” ruse worked flawlessly. For their opponents, it became as hard to answer as, “Say 'yes' or 'no': 'Have you quit beating your wife?’” So-called moderates, who struggle with short answers and sound bites, always came off as tentative and defensive. So the assertion stuck. “If they can't clearly respond to the charge, it must be true,” Southern Baptists seemed to think. Consequently, the SBC elected one fundamentalist president after another. This allowed the fundamentalists to dominate the process for selecting trustees to SBC institutions and eventually to gain complete control of the national convention.

---

Anonymous gift will enable CBF to appoint missionaries despite budget shortfalls_71403

October 14, 2003

Posted 6/28/03

CBF church starting strategist
Phil Hester introduces Mary Beth Caffee, who is starting a church in Maine, one of 40 CBF new church starts across the nation.
Hester was an advertising executive in Houston before entering seminary later in life and then starting a church in California.

Anonymous gift will enable CBF to appoint missionaries despite budget shortfalls

By Mark Wingfield

Managing Editor

CHARLOTTE, N.C.—Gifts of $9 million from an anonymous donor will enable the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship to continue to appoint new missionaries next year despite budget shortfalls.

---

Missionary couple says they're grateful to serve at all after being fired by IMB_71403

October 14, 2003

Posted 6/30/03

Missionary couple says they're grateful to serve at all after being fired by IMB

By Mark Wingfield

Managing Editor

CHARLOTTE, N.C.-Two missionary couples who lost their jobs with the Southern Baptist Convention for failure to sign a new faith statement expressed gratitude to God for allowing them to serve as missionaries at all.

---

cbf_Campolo urges: 'Fight the good fight' for justice_71403

October 14, 2003

Posted 6/30/03

Campolo urges: 'Fight the good fight' for justice

By Marv Knox

Editor

CHARLOTTE, N.C.-Christians must “fight the good fight” for justice, speaker and author Tony Campolo told participants at the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship's general assembly.

---

cbf_Healthy churches rest on seven pillars, consultant says_71403

October 14, 2003

Posted 6/30/03

Healthy churches rest on seven pillars, consultant says

By Marv Knox

Editor

CHARLOTTE, N.C.-Although every church is unique, healthy congregations tend to reflect seven characteristics, a veteran church consultant insisted.

---

Leonard: Baptists 'bog down' relating to people of other faiths_71403

October 14, 2003

Posted 6/30/03

Leonard: Baptists 'bog down' relating to people of other faiths

By Marv Knox

Editor

CHARLOTTE, N.C.-Many Baptists bog down in theological "quicksand" as they try to relate to people of other religions, church historian Bill Leonard reported.

---

Currie calls Patterson statement on women in the pastorate 'arrogant' _71403

October 14, 2003

Posted 6/30/03

Currie calls Patterson statement on women in the pastorate 'arrogant'

By Mark Wingfield

Managing Editor

CHARLOTTE, N.C.-Paige Patterson's assertion that the Bible is "crystal clear” that women should not be pastors is “arrogant, asinine and ignorant,” declared David Currie, executive director of Texas Baptists Committed.