

Honor in Iraq

March 11, 2009

Former Marine platoon leader Donovan Campbell's discussion of his mission in Iraq will touch your heart.

Legislative ante

March 11, 2009

We can pray the Texas Legislature won't succumb to economic desperation by expanding gambling across our state.

Holiness & high fives

March 11, 2009

How much could Christians improve the world if we would simply encourage others?

Facebook is toast

March 11, 2009

Now that so many folks my age are registered, Facebook probably has one foot in the grave and another on a banana peel.

Integrity in action

March 11, 2009

If you want to see integrity in action, look at Britt Harris, chief investment officer for the Teacher Retirement System of Texas.

Faith vs. science?

March 11, 2009

Talk about a pointless war. The battle between faith and science just doesn't make sense.

Rudy Sanchez: Friend & guide

March 11, 2009

Texas Baptists lost a giant when a wonderful saint, Rudy Sanchez, went home to heaven late last week.

Ethics & driving

March 11, 2009

What are the (speed) limits of ethical behavior?

Hypocrisy vs. consistency

March 11, 2009

Is it too much to ask people to behave the same in private as they do in public?

Trending toward what?

March 11, 2009

Can you spot trends in religion? They're happening to a church near you.

Days for dreaming

March 11, 2009

I wish Martin Luther King—who would have turned 80 last Thursday—were alive to see this week.

Experience the future

March 11, 2009

We've already birthed a baby in this New Year. Baptist Standard E3—our enhanced electronic edition—took its first big gulp of cyber-air this week. It's growing fast.
