

Had it up to here

April 18, 2012

Here's hoping you're enjoying a relaxed Stress Awareness Month.

Light of Easter

April 18, 2012

Penitent people packed the pews on Resurrection Sunday. What difference does Easter make the rest of the year?

Holy Week speech

April 18, 2012

How do we speak of Holy Week? And how do we pray from Palm Sunday to Easter?

Fear its ownself

April 18, 2012

Where is FDR when we need him? And John the Evangelist?

Visit FaithVillage

April 18, 2012

Almost four years after God gave us a Big Idea, we're thrilled to announce FaithVillage.com is open and waiting for you.

Giving up anger

April 18, 2012

Do you think it's possible to give up anger for Lent? I must enjoy it. So giving it up should be a sacrifice.

Poignance from the bench

April 18, 2012

Texas Judge Fred Biery provides a gracious, poignant look inside America's political pressure-cooker.

If dogs were ushers

April 18, 2012

I'm thinking about hiring out my dog, Topanga, as a church consultant.

Power(less)-brokers

April 18, 2012

The cadre of mostly old-guard ultra-conservative theo-political leaders who met recently to bless one candidate for the presidency made a big mistake.

Good answers from Hardage

April 18, 2012

David Hardage said the right thing shortly after Texas Baptists' Executive Board elected him executive director.

What about 'so what?'

April 18, 2012

In religion, atheism gets more ink, but apathy is the greater adversary.

Ahead or back?

April 18, 2012

Sometimes, my grandson, Ezra, can't decide whether to press on or turn back.
