

Commitment to God fuels Armstrong's Olympics outlook

July 30, 2024

Hunter Armstrong's Instagram account proclaims "GOD FIRST!" The U.S. Olympic swimmer tries to be faithful to that description, whether he's winning gold medals or not.

William Barber refutes myths about poverty and race

July 30, 2024

When Tim Tyson invited William Barber to meet with a group of white residents in North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains, Barber was skeptical.

Archaeologists discover ancient Jerusalem moat

July 30, 2024

Archaeologists from Tel Aviv University and the Israel Antiquities Authority have discovered a remnant of a massive ancient moat in Jerusalem that fortified the city during the time of the First Jewish Temple and the Kingdom of Judah.

Meaning of Sonya Massey's near-last words

July 30, 2024

"I rebuke you in the name of Jesus" carries a spiritual and cultural weight specific to Black church communities.

Kamala Harris' pastor known for civil rights, reparations activism

July 30, 2024

Amos Brown, a longtime pastor of Third Baptist Church of San Francisco described Vice President Kamala Harris' connection to his church.

In small-town Illinois, a little church says goodbye

July 30, 2024

First Baptist Church survived a tornado, church schisms and two worldwide pandemics in over 150 years of ministry in small-town Illinois.

Active Christians value civic responsibility, study shows

July 30, 2024

Christians engaged in Scripture place the highest premiums on civic advocacy and engagement, the American Bible Society said in its latest release from the 2024 State of the Bible.

Faith and Gen Z: Kenzie Eifert

July 30, 2024

It's tough out there for Gen Z. But some graduates of Texas Baptist universities are bucking the negative trends.

Gibson trusts God in journey to second Olympics

July 30, 2024

Disappointed in her performance at the 2021 Olympics in Tokyo, Alison Gibson said goodbye to the sport of diving for good. At least, that was her intention.

Archeologist illuminates Scripture with science

July 30, 2024

Churches have been guilty of teaching half-truths, a real-life Indiana Jones said, but archeology can illuminate some scriptural texts.

Faith and Gen Z: Sarah Potts

July 30, 2024

Statistics on Gen Z paint a pessimistic picture, but some Gen Z graduates of Texas Baptist colleges tell a more optimistic story.

Churchgoers see public perception of Christians souring

July 30, 2024

Most churchgoers believe Christians have a good reputation with Americans in general, but they worry those feelings are starting to sour.