

Conference rallies Christian women for culture-war battles

October 14, 2025

“Welcome to the fight,” Allie Beth Stuckey told conservative Christian women at the “Share the Arrows” conference in Allen.

Franklin Graham quits financial accountability group

October 14, 2025

Franklin Graham, the president and CEO of two of the largest Christian ministries in the country, has quit his organizations’ membership in a financial accountability group that sets standards for evangelical nonprofits.

Study: Religion declining worldwide in predictable

pattern

October 14, 2025

When it comes to going to church, a generational pattern is playing out in many households around the world.

Support of Israel steady but generational shift likely

October 14, 2025

Evangelicals in the United States are as supportive of Israel as they were four years ago, Infinity Concepts and Grey Matter found in their latest poll, but findings point to a possible generational shift.

Charlie Kirk's AI resurrection reveals new era of digital grief

October 14, 2025

AI-generated content flooded social media—and even were part of worship services—in the wake of Charlie Kirk's killing, with supporters sharing images, videos and audio messages featuring the felled activist that were made by artificial intelligence.

Only two-thirds of U.S. Christians believe all have sinned

October 14, 2025

Only 66 percent of American Christians accept the biblical teaching that all have sinned, George Barna said in the latest release from the 2025 American Worldview Survey he oversees at Arizona Christian University.

White church dedicates memorial to the enslaved

October 14, 2025

A predominantly white church that sought to learn about its racial history has dedicated a memorial to the enslaved people who once worked on the building's land in downtown Washington, D.C.

Slim majority backs physician-assisted suicide

October 14, 2025

A Lifeway Research study of U.S. adults finds 51 percent think it is morally acceptable for a person facing a painful terminal disease to ask for a physician's aid in taking his or her life.

Gen Z and Millennials top in church attendance

October 14, 2025

For the first time in decades, Gen Z and Millennials are attending church more frequently than older adults, Barna and Gloom reported Sept. 3 from its latest State of the Church research.

Study: Women ministers resist misogyny with mentors

October 14, 2025

With a total of six decades of ministry between them, Liz Ríos and Liz

Mosbo VerHage were not surprised to learn that the vast majority of women ministers have faced misogyny.

Bible Society funds grants to boost Gen Z Bible use

October 14, 2025

Could artificial intelligence or short TV episodes help young adults engage more with the Bible? The American Bible Society has issued grants to four Christian higher education institutions to encourage innovation in getting young adults more interested in Scripture.

Gallup poll reveals Americans' views on moral issues

October 14, 2025

Americans don't see much wrong with using birth control or getting a divorce, but few support extramarital affairs or human cloning. The latest poll results from Gallup spell out what activities U.S. adults view as morally acceptable and which ones are seen as immoral.