

Biography reveals faith of civil rights activist Fannie Lou Hamer

October 11, 2021

Fannie Lou Hamer was an advocate for African Americans, women and poor people, and for many who were all three. Kate Clifford Larson's new book, "Walk With Me: A Biography of Fannie Lou Hamer," reveals details of the faith and life of Hamer.

---

Fernando Ortega: Siglos de familia, arte e iglesia

October 11, 2021

El artista cristiano de fama nacional Fernando Ortega comparte parte de la historia y herencia de cuatro siglos de su familia en Nuevo México.

---

Lucado finds peace in quiet

providence amid personal struggles

October 11, 2021

Pastor and bestselling author Max Lucado believes the story of Esther can help guide Christians through challenging times.

---

Fernando Ortega: Centuries of family, art and the church

October 11, 2021

Nationally known Christian artist Fernando Ortega shares some of his family's four-century history and heritage in New Mexico.

---

Racism, not abortion, birthed the religious right, scholar asserts

October 11, 2021

Randall Balmer asserts race, rather than abortion, propelled the rise of the political movement known as the religious right.

---

Churches adopt pandemic-era Airbnb models

October 11, 2021

To stay afloat, Cullen Missionary Baptist Church in Houston turned to Church Space, a platform akin to Airbnb that allows houses of worship to rent their sanctuaries, fellowship halls and kitchens to other congregations and organizations.

---

Research shows pandemic takes toll on emotional health

October 11, 2021

Research confirms what many have suspected—the COVID-19 pandemic is taking a toll on Americans' mental and emotional health.

---

‘In Christ Alone’ still inspires after 20 years

October 11, 2021

The melody that changed Keith Getty’s life was first scratched out on the back of an electric bill in a humble flat in Northern Ireland. At the time, he thought it wasn’t that great. But it was the best he could come up with.

---

Survey: Most Americans know and trust their neighbors

October 11, 2021

Despite quarantines and social distancing keeping people in their homes during the pandemic, Americans still say they know their neighbors, a Lifeway Research study reveals.

---

NRB spokesman fired after pro-vaccine statements

October 11, 2021

The spokesman for a major evangelical nonprofit was fired for promoting vaccines on the MSNBC “Morning Joe” cable news show.

---

Book examines policies shaping Dallas neighborhoods

October 11, 2021

A new book exploring the back stories of five Dallas neighborhoods suggests how to see injustice and work for justice in local communities.

---

Coach Bowden saw players as more than a jersey

October 11, 2021

Those who knew Coach Bobby Bowden best noted he not only was one of the winningest coaches in college football history, but also made an eternal impact on his players through this Christian witness.