

Marsh Institute for Chaplains launched

February 6, 2025

Organizers announced the formation and launch of The Marsh Institute for Chaplains, a nonprofit organization dedicated to collaborating, equipping, supporting and advocating for chaplains in diverse settings.

Evangelicals hold nuanced views on immigration

February 6, 2025

Evangelicals in the United States want both secure borders and laws that provide avenues for certain illegal immigrants to obtain legal status, according to a recent Lifeway Research study.

Chaves: Views of the past shape future outlook

February 6, 2025

João Chaves, a historian of religion, told Howard Payne University students and guests, “We must contend with our past to consider our future.”

Find Black history, family devotions and recipes in one book

February 6, 2025

Christian author Trillia Newbell invites families to center dinner table devotions around in her book, “Celebrating Around the Table: Learning the Stories of Black Christians Through Readings, Fellowship, Food, and Faith.”

‘God does not show favoritism,’ João Chaves asserts

February 6, 2025

“God does not show favoritism,” João Chaves, assistant professor of history of religion in the Américas at Baylor University, told Howard Payne University students in chapel on Jan. 29.

Anabaptists commemorate 500 years with study Bible

February 6, 2025

Anabaptists around the world are commemorating 500 years since their founders performed the first adult baptisms outside Zürich and kicked off the Radical Reformation.

Laws guarding kids from online porn at risk in appeal

February 6, 2025

Laws in 20 states aimed at shielding minors from online pornography are under fire as the U.S. Supreme Court hears a legal challenge Jan. 15.

Promise Keepers founder Bill

McCartney dead at 84

February 6, 2025

Bill McCartney, a former college football coach who became one of the most influential religious figures in American life during the 1990s after founding the Promise Keepers movement, died Jan. 10. He was 84.

Richard Hays, scholar known for changing his views, has died

February 6, 2025

Richard Hays, a New Testament scholar and former dean of Duke Divinity School known for his books on Christian ethics and his change of mind about same-sex marriage, died Jan. 3.

Religious traditions can help with holiday blues, experts say

February 6, 2025

For many, the winter holidays are a time of grief, loss or perhaps heightened levels of depression and anxiety, but churches can help.

Report links Bible engagement, generosity and happiness

February 6, 2025

Bible-engaged Christians are the most charitable people in the United States, and giving increases happiness among the generous, the American Bible Society said in releasing the last chapter of the 2024 State of the Bible.

Faith leaders worried about immigration raids at churches

February 6, 2025

Faith leaders are reacting with concern to a report President-elect Donald Trump plans to rescind a long-standing policy that discourages immigration officials from conducting raids at churches, schools and hospitals.