

Doug Wilson demonstrates growing national influence

December 12, 2025

Critics say Christ Church's renown has less to do with God than with Pastor Doug Wilson's dedication to Christian nationalism and his ties to like-minded officials in the Trump administration and among its allies.

Speaker Johnson defends ICE agents against clergy

December 12, 2025

House Speaker Mike Johnson dismissed religious freedom concerns about clergy protesting mass deportations being shot with pepper rounds and pepper bullets by Department of Homeland Security agents, saying the agents have conducted themselves in a "measured" manner.

New York man fired for insisting on Billy Graham Rule

December 12, 2025

For years, a Southern Baptist layman abided by the Billy Graham Rule—vowing never to be alone with a woman who was not his wife. Now he’s suing his former employer, alleging the company failed to accommodate his religious beliefs and then fired him because of those beliefs.

Hispanic Trump adviser acknowledges widespread fear

December 12, 2025

Samuel Rodriguez, a Hispanic evangelical adviser to President Donald Trump, is urging government leaders to recognize the “innocent people” who are being swept up in detention quotas.

Judge bars ICE from some acts against protestors

December 12, 2025

A federal judge in Illinois has issued a temporary restraining order that bars government agents from using some forceful tactics against faith-based demonstrators who have been protesting outside a Chicago-area U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement facility.

Faith-based protesters say ICE threatens religious freedom

December 12, 2025

Dramatic and violent scenes that unfolded in recent weeks near an ICE detention facility in Broadview, Ill., as protesters—including some ministers—have called on ICE agents to repent.

Deportation flight to Iran included Christians at risk

December 12, 2025

The deportation of more than a hundred Iranians held in ICE custody on a flight that touched down in Tehran on Sept. 29 includes Christians and other religious minorities who may face harsh penalties for their religious beliefs upon return to the Islamic Republic.

Abortion opponents denounce drug entering market

December 12, 2025

Pro-life advocates protested the U.S. Food & Drug Administration's approval of another generic abortion drug.

Charlie Kirk leaves behind a vast and influential network

December 12, 2025

In the wake of his killing, Charlie Kirk leaves behind a vast faith-rooted network of politically active religious leaders that may continue to influence politics for years to come.

Kirk impacted generation of young Christian conservatives

December 12, 2025

Launched in 2012 when Charlie Kirk was just 18, Turning Point USA began as a way of educating students about fiscal responsibility and capitalism, but grew into a conservative powerhouse with more than 800 chapters on college and high school campuses.

White evangelicals say election results in God's plan

December 12, 2025

Seven out of 10 white evangelical Americans believe God played a role in putting Donald Trump back in the White House after the 2024 election—and that the same number said God's plan was also for Joe Biden to be president four years earlier.

Charlie Kirk killed in shooting at Utah campus event

December 12, 2025

Charlie Kirk, an evangelical Christian activist and social media personality who rallied young Americans to Donald Trump's MAGA cause, died Sept. 10 after being shot while addressing a crowd at an Utah university.