

Jubilant March for Life crowd prepares for state-level fights

January 23, 2023

Thousands assembled for the anti-abortion March for Life on the National Mall, where throngs celebrated the fall of Roe v. Wade while voicing concern as the abortion debate moves to the states.

FBI offers reward for info on pregnancy center attacks

January 23, 2023

The FBI is offering a $25,000 reward for information related to attacks on pregnancy support centers.

Trump chides former evangelical supporters for ‘disloyalty’

January 23, 2023

Former President Donald Trump is chiding evangelical Christian pastors who previously supported him but haven’t endorsed his new presidential campaign, accusing the faith leaders of “disloyalty.”

Mixed response from faith leaders to border policy changes

January 23, 2023

President Joe Biden’s visit to El Paso came three days after he announced changes in immigration and asylum policies, which some faith leaders greeted with mixed reviews.

Who are the Christian nationalists?

January 23, 2023

The “Christian Nationalist” umbrella covers a wide spectrum.

Percentage of professing Christians in Congress stable

January 23, 2023

The religious makeup of the new Congress bucks the trends seen in American religious life, a new report finds.

Homeschooling's role in Christian nationalism examined

January 23, 2023

In September 2020, six months into the pandemic, the U.S. Census Bureau reported the share of homeschooled children had shot up to 11 percent of households. With the escalated numbers has come increased attention to homeschooling.

Faith leaders call for expanded child tax credit

January 23, 2023

Faith leaders voiced support for the expansion of the child tax credit, urging lawmakers to reinstate a broader version of the anti-poverty benefit before the end of the year.

Same-sex marriage codified in federal law

January 23, 2023

President Joe Biden signed into law Dec. 13 a measure mandating federal protection for same-sex marriage and interracial marriage.

BJC chief links Christian nationalism to white supremacy

January 23, 2023

Christian nationalism “provides cover” for white supremacy by offering racists a veneer of respectability, Amanda Tyler, executive director of the Baptist Joint Committee for Religious Liberty, told a Congressional hearing.

National Christmas Tree turns 100 this year

January 23, 2023

For 100 years, the National Christmas Tree has represented a symbol of civil religion as Americans mark the Christmas season.

Evangelical influencers criticize candidate Trump

January 23, 2023

David Lane, a Texas-based political operative and leader of the American Renewal Project, described former President Donald Trump as out of touch, driven by personal grievances and self-importance.