

Advocate Charles Haynes: Religious freedom ‘being tested’

October 22, 2018

Charles Haynes, a First Amendment scholar, has spent more than two decades helping schools walk the line between religion and state and advocating for the rights of people of a range of faiths and no faith.

---

Half of Protestant pastors approve of Trump’s job performance

October 22, 2018

Half of America’s Protestant pastors say they approve of the job President Donald Trump has done in the White House, but many are unsure.

---

Black clergy plan to forge own path in divided nation

October 22, 2018

Representatives of the Progressive National Baptist Convention and the National Baptist Convention USA declared they would stand apart from white liberals and conservatives alike while seeking to address a politically divided nation.

---

Trump White House faith outreach a picture of selective access

October 22, 2018

Although the two previous presidents made concerted efforts to connect with a wide array of faith groups, the Trump administration seemingly is taking a different approach—giving certain faith groups selective access to the White House.

---

Murderous nation needs ‘grace and mercy’ from church

October 22, 2018

Murderous rampages have become so common, crime trackers disagree over proper terminology to describe the carnage. In the midst of increasing violence, churches face the challenge of continuing to show God’s love, grace and mercy in the midst of Satan’s prolific work, pastors affected by such violence said.

---

Metaxas and Fea offer competing views on ‘Christian America’

October 22, 2018

Author Eric Metaxas and historian John Fea offer significantly different views on how the Founding Fathers viewed the proper role of religion.

---

Americans United: Evangelicals' White House meetings illegal

October 22, 2018

A church-state watchdog group is demanding a halt to meetings between the Trump administration and an informal group of evangelical advisers who have proved to be among the president's staunchest supporters.

---

Baptist military chaplain cleared of discrimination charges

October 22, 2018

The U.S. Army dropped its investigation Aug. 24 against Southern Baptist chaplain Maj. Jerry Scott Squires, a Southern Baptist chaplain, exonerating him of all charges.

---

John McCain known as a man of

quiet faith

October 22, 2018

Sen. John McCain, a former prisoner of war who embraced patriotism loudly and religion quietly, died Aug. 25 at age 81.

---

Satanists briefly erect statue outside Arkansas Capitol

October 22, 2018

A group from The Satanic Temple temporarily erected a goat-headed, winged statue on the Arkansas State Capitol grounds Aug. 16 to protest the Ten Commandments monument already placed there.

---

Faith-based protesters counter white supremacists

October 22, 2018

By Sunday evening, Aug. 12, Washington, D.C., hosted far more anti-racist religious demonstrators than white supremacists, suggesting white nationalists inadvertently had done more to unite people than bolster the ranks of racists.

---

Multi-ethnic worship caps weekend in Charlottesville

October 22, 2018

Evangelical pastors in Charlottesville, Va., said a community interracial worship service appeared to be the largest local gathering during what media described as a weekend of peaceful but tense demonstrations in the city