

Airstrike on Lviv hits Baptist seminary worker's home

July 12, 2023

A Russian airstrike targeting civilians in Lviv damaged the home of a Ukrainian Baptist Theological Seminary worker about a half-mile drive from the campus.

Obituary: Shirley Ann Fannin

July 12, 2023

Shirley Ann Fannin, former kindergarten teacher and equipper for Woman's Missionary Union of Texas, died June 22 in Dickinson. She was 86

Russia violates religious freedom at home and in Ukraine

July 12, 2023

Persecution of religious minorities with Russia has escalated since the invasion of Ukraine, where Russia's military has destroyed houses of worship and tortured religious leaders, according to two reports.

Questions surround site of ancient Jerusalem

July 12, 2023

Archaeologists debate the location of King David's ancient headquarters in Jerusalem.

Study: Big churches sound alike, small churches vary widely

July 12, 2023

Church music professor Will Bishop has been working on a recent survey project to understand better the worship music used in Southern Baptist churches, especially smaller congregations.

SBC action could disproportionately impact Black churches

July 12, 2023

A move to exclude churches with women pastors on staff from the SBC could disenfranchise Black Southern Baptist churches, the president of the National African American Fellowship stated.

Planting churches in Ukraine, minister relies on God

July 12, 2023

Michael Domke spent nearly 15 years planting churches in Ukraine until war forced him out. Today, he typically drives 1,700 miles to several cities in Ukraine from Budapest, Hungary, continuing his work.

Researchers use AI to help

translate the Bible

July 12, 2023

Two scientists are looking to new advancements in artificial intelligence to translate the Bible into rare languages.

Wayland mission team ministers in rural Honduran villages

July 12, 2023

Seven Wayland Baptist University students and two faculty members traveled to rural Honduras this summer, where they conducted door-to-door medical visits and participated in children's ministry activities.

God's people sent to be on mission with God

July 12, 2023

God has given his people a mission to come alongside him to stand against the monstrous forces that oppose "God's homemaking project," theologian

Miroslav Volf told participants at the Sent 2023 Mission Summit.

Italy pastor pitches in when he can with disaster relief

July 12, 2023

Joseph Barrett took time away from his pastoral duties recently to lend a hand when the Ellis County disaster relief chainsaw team responded after a storm toppled trees across a broad swath north of Corsicana.

DBU and HPU approved as BWA member partners

July 12, 2023

Two universities affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas became the first educational institutions accepted as member partners of the Baptist World Alliance.