

Museum to feature treasure trove of biblical artifacts

April 21, 2011

Steve Green, owner of the Oklahoma City-based craft chain Hobby Lobby, has planned a multimillion-dollar, high-tech, interactive museum of the Bible. It will include the earliest surviving New Testament written in Palestinian Aramaic among other treasures.

Whose “majesty” were the KJV translators exalting?

April 21, 2011

When many readers describe the 1611 King James Version of the Bible, the word “majesty” tends to enter the conversation.

Christianity a “translated religionâ€”-into Living Word and written word

April 21, 2011

Translation of Scripture grows naturally out of a central Christian theme—God making himself known by identifying with the commonplace, said Lamin Sanneh, professor of mission and world Christianity at Yale University.

Some African-Americans bristle at â€”slave of Christâ€” language

April 21, 2011

For evangelical author John MacArthur, the best way to explain a Christian's relationship to Jesus is what appears to be a simple metaphor—one often used by the Apostle Paul himself: "slave."

Global south Christians love the Bible books Luther hated

April 21, 2011

Regions Martin Luther never knew have embraced biblical books the Protestant reformer never liked, author and educator Philip Jenkins said.

Diver searches for the Apostle Paul's shipwreck

April 21, 2011

Huntsville, Ala., software salesman John Harkins is determined to be the first person since the New Testament writer Luke to see evidence of the ship that carried Paul nearly to Rome.

Fraud prevention can save churches heartache, expert insists

April 21, 2011

Fraud prevention beats fraud detection—especially for churches, Verne Hargrave, a certified public accountant and fraud examiner, told a group at RockPointe Church in Flower Mound.

Small churches feeling financial squeeze

April 21, 2011

Almost all churches in the United States witnessed a change in the financial giving they received in 2010 compared to 2009, with smaller churches feeling the squeeze but larger churches faring relatively better, according to a new report.

Faith Digest

April 21, 2011

Neither snow nor rain nor Saturday Sabbaths should keep a Missouri mailman from his appointed rounds, a federal appeals court has ruled.

Texas WMU gift helps regional Singing Men group stand tall in Ukraine

April 21, 2011

The Woman's Missionary Union of Texas gave a $3,775 check to the Singing Men of North Central Texas to ensure they will stand on solid ground when they return to the Ukraine and Crimea for a series of concerts next spring.

TBM collecting bottled water; fire departments need supplies

April 21, 2011

Beginning today, Texas Baptist Men is collecting bottled water that will be distributed to firefighters and victims of the wildfires raging throughout the state.

Ethics students granted Cobbs Scholarships

April 21, 2011

Kyle Tubbs of Sweetwater and Joseph Barrett of Rochester are the recipients of Cobbs Scholarships at Hardin-Simmons University's Logsdon School of Theology. The scholarship honors Louis Cobbs, former International Mission Board executive who helped launch the Journeyman program.