

Texas Builders bring help to New Mexico mountain retreat

August 30, 2024

Texans on Mission Builders spent much of August in the cooler temperature of Aspendale Mountain Retreat Center.

People globally want leaders to stand up for believers

August 30, 2024

A new Pew Research Center study revealed people around the globe favor leaders who stand up for their constituents with religious beliefs, even if the beliefs are not their own.

Complaint filed over Johnson Amendment's application

August 30, 2024

The National Religious Broadcasters association has joined a complaint alongside two East Texas churches calling for the Johnson Amendment to be declared unconstitutional.

Taliban laws regarding women prompt calls for prayer

August 30, 2024

A new Taliban law restricting the rights of women even further has led to calls for prayer from Arabic church leaders as well as Afghans who have fled in recent years.

‘Strawberry Fields’ inspiration bears Salvation Army fruit

August 30, 2024

Let me take you down to Strawberry Fields. No, not the memorial in New York’s Central Park to the former Beatle John Lennon.

Truett Seminary celebrates 30 years, looks to future

August 30, 2024

Baylor University's Truett Theological Seminary returned to its birthplace at First Baptist Church in Waco for an Aug. 27 convocation marking 30 years of spiritual formation and preparing students for ministry.

On the Move: Pardue

August 30, 2024

Pastoral staff change noted at Weatherford church.

Texans on Mission wraps up response to Hurricane Beryl

August 30, 2024

Texans on Mission Disaster Relief volunteers completed their six-week deployment in the aftermath of Hurricane Beryl.

Wayland president emphasizes working together

August 30, 2024

“Let’s clean up the kitchen so we can start cooking,” said WBU President Donna Hedgepath, in her Convocation 2024 address.

Around the State: HCU receives new accreditations

August 30, 2024

HCU’s bachelor’s degree programs in Cyber and Electrical Engineering and Computer Science receive ABET accreditation.

Steven Curtis Chapman reflects

on the next chapter

August 30, 2024

The applause never has died for Steven Curtis Chapman, but the 37 years since his first album have brought a lot of chapters for a career now in its fifth decade. There have been goals met, and there have been curveballs.

Texas lawmaker-seminarian opposes Christian nationalism

August 30, 2024

At a time when some evangelicals see voting for a Democrat as incompatible with being a Christian, Rep. James Talarico, D-Austin, asserts his Christian faith leads him to support the Democratic Party and its presidential nominee, Vice President Kamala Harris.