

University to investigate alleged untruths by seminary president

May 11, 2010

Liberty University will investigate reports that its seminary president has misled the public in his testimony about converting from militant Islam to Christianity, officials of the school in Lynchburg, Va., announced May 10.

Kagan's views on church-state, social issues largely unknown

May 11, 2010

President Obama's latest Supreme Court nominee Solicitor General Elena Kagan has an exceedingly thin paper trail on some of the legal questions most important to people of faith.

Biomedical ethics in a brave, new world

May 11, 2010

When a Texas pastor exhausted treatments available for his multiple sclerosis and began looking at other options, he excluded embryonic stem cell treatments. But then his condition worsened.

Survey finds Africa is most religious part of world

May 11, 2010

Researchers say they've found the most religious place on Earth—between the southern border of the Sahara Desert and the tip of South Africa.

Northeast Texas church shows love for its community

May 11, 2010

First Baptist Church in Bogata loves its town and every person in it—all 1,300 of them. The congregation is in a campaign called "First loves Bogata,” an effort to share the gospel with every person in the city.

Students compete in Bible drill, speakersâ€™ competitions

May 11, 2010

Several hundred junior high and high school students participated in the Texas Bill Drive state finals May 1, drilling against each other in the areas of finding Scripture and reciting Scripture.

USDA offers churches free food for summer feeding programs

May 11, 2010

In communities where more than 50 percent of children or youth are eligible for free or reduced lunch programs at school, the USDA and Texas Department of Agriculture are offering to provide free food for congregations willing to serve as distribution or feeding points.

Obama, Billy Graham meet at evangelist's home

May 11, 2010

President Obama and ailing evangelist Billy Graham exchanged prayers during their first meeting recently at Graham's home in western North Carolina.

Catholic scholar among experts named to White House bioethics panel

May 11, 2010

President Obama has named 10 medical and legal experts—including a Franciscan friar—to a commission that will advise the White House on bioethical issues.

‘NanoKnife’ in use at Valley Baptist Medical Center

May 11, 2010

A new treatment for cancer patients that kills cancer cells with electricity while not harming surrounding healthy tissue was performed for the first time in Texas at Valley Baptist Medical Center in Harlingen.

Faith-based alliance seeks health care for working poor

May 11, 2010

The New Orleans Faith Health Alliance aspires to be the doctor’s office for people who are working but without health insurance.

Our House, BCFS work together to serve homeless, at-risk youth

May 11, 2010

Our House and Baptist Child & Family Services have announced plans to work together to provide much needed transitional services to struggling young adults in Abilene.