

Baylor engineering students form national nonprofit

May 28, 2009

Baylor University's Engineers with a Mission has expanded to Global Appropriate Technology Ministries. The organization will serve as a nonprofit engineering consulting agency for foreign mission projects around the world.

---

Around the State

May 28, 2009

Howard Payne University will hold its Young Scholars and Summer Scholars programs June 15-19.

---

Baptists respond to cyclone in Bangladesh

May 28, 2009

The Baptist World Alliance has responded to Cyclone Aila, which killed nearly 200 and destroyed thousands of homes May 25 in Bangladesh and India.

---

Poll shows little change on marriage, but more support for other gay rights

May 28, 2009

Results from a recently released Gallup poll show a majority of Americans continue to oppose same-sex marriage—but that the youngest voters support equal marriage rights for homosexual couples by a wide margin.

---

Faith-based groups push for health-care reform

May 28, 2009

Ads airing on Christian and mainstream radio stations in several states are attempting to frame health care as a moral issue.

---

Group says IRS should review Liberty University's tax-exempt status

May 28, 2009

A church-state watchdog group says the IRS should review Liberty University's tax-exempt status for its decision to revoke recognition of its Democratic Party club.

---

Sotomayor's record on religion issues brief, unlikely to stir controversy

May 28, 2009

Supporters of separation between church and state reacted cautiously May 26 to President Obama's selection of Sonia Sotomayor as his nominee to replace retiring Justice David Souter on the Supreme Court. She has ruled on only a handful of cases involving the First Amendment's religion clauses.

---

IMB receives funds from BGCT; blog claims to the contrary âerroneousâ

May 28, 2009

A recordkeeping glitch prompted some Baptist bloggers erroneously to accuse the Baptist General Convention of Texas of escrowing funds from the Lottie Moon Offering to improve its cash flow.

---

Church has shaped its community by meeting needsâfor 118 years

May 28, 2009

A new book by Rob and Tiffany Fink titled Love Unbounded: The Influence of the First Baptist Church of Abilene, Texas, chronicles how the church played a key role in shaping the city which has grown with it.

---

Homeless men from Waco help repair homes in Galveston

May 28, 2009

Four men from Mission Waco's homeless shelter joined four Baylor University students and two-dozen other volunteers with Waco's Church Under the Bridge on a recent mission trip to Galveston.

---

Christian camp helps refugees make 'Segue' to life in United States

May 28, 2009

Thousands of international refugees are being brought to Dallas to transition into new lives. A new program, Segue, is seeking young adults undergoing their own transitions to help with that process.

---

Former president's scrapbook returns to Wayland

May 28, 2009

Just in time for Wayland Baptist University's centennial celebration, a unique possession of one of the school's former presidents has returned to the campus.