

HSU, Baylor named as great workplaces

July 29, 2011

Two Texas Baptist universities are among the best college workplaces in the nation, according to a survey by The Chronicle of Higher Education.

Hardin-Simmons University was named to the honor roll of top 10 four-year institutions in the small-school category for 3,000 or fewer students. Baylor University made the top 10 honor roll in the large-school category for 10,000 or more students.

The results, released in the Chronicle's fourth annual report on the academic workplace, are based on a survey of nearly 44,000 employees at 310 colleges and universities.

In all, only 111 of the 310 institutions achieved "Great College to Work For" recognition for specific best practices and policies.
