

Central Texas churches touching lives for Christ

June 10, 2019

Jim Hornsby wears many hats. From feeding the homeless to providing weekend backpacks for students, to organizing volunteers, to sponsoring an outreach ministry with prisons, Hornsby and his volunteer staff are reaching people for Jesus.

CommonCall: Treasuring a faith that sings

June 10, 2019

Remember the hymnal Mom and Dad shared as they joined in the congregational singing on Sunday morning? Rob Veal probably has one just like it.

Social work in line with biblical principles, HPU educator insists

June 10, 2019

After working eight years in secular social work higher education, Rachel Derrington knew she was called to something more.

Relaunched BSM in Laredo an answer to prayer

June 10, 2019

Texas A&M International University has a revived Baptist Student Ministry after several years of limited gospel witness on the campus. And many individuals and churches in Laredo see it as the answer to their prayers.

Waco church voluntarily cuts ties with BGCT

June 10, 2019

A Waco church that recently announced it will permit same-sex marriages voluntarily ended its relationship with the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Ministering in a small church? Persevere and trust in God

June 10, 2019

Demetrio Salazar recognizes serving in a small church with limited resources not only demands perseverance, but also people who place their hope entirely on God.

Logsdon student translates memoirs of medical missionary

June 10, 2019

Logsdon Seminary student Javier Vargas understands the importance of using talents for God's glory. That's why he used his gift for language studies to take on a project others rejected.

Texas lawmakers pass school finance, criminal justice reforms

June 10, 2019

The 86th Texas Legislature passed a school finance bill that provides $6 billion in new state funding for public education—action Texas Baptist advocates for public schools applauded.

CommonCall: God transforms Juárez one child at a time

June 10, 2019

Julio Carrillo wants to see Juárez—a Mexican border city known for its drug violence—transformed by God.

HPU business professor prepares students for lives of service

June 10, 2019

The importance of service, regardless of career or calling, influences Brad Lemler's teaching method and mission.

Commencement a walk to remember for one UMHB graduate

June 10, 2019

For Taylor Scruggs, who lives with cerebral palsy, the walk across the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor graduation stage was a moment her family never will forget.

Albert Reyes: Hurting people

need hope now

June 10, 2019

People who are hurting need hope more than anything else, and they need it right away, Albert Reyes of Buckner International believes.