

Editorial: Our doctrine and mission matter in these days

March 18, 2026

Editor Eric Black engages with responses—some on Facebook, some published here—to his previous editorial on doctrine and mission.

Voices: Doctrine and mission need each other

March 18, 2026

Kimlyn Bender responds to Editor Eric Black's editorial on doctrine and mission, contending they are integral to each other.

Voices: Who will we work with to accomplish our mission?

March 18, 2026

Scott Jones responds to Editor Eric Black's editorial on doctrine and mission, asking if those differing on doctrine can work together.

Voices: The relationship between doctrine and mission

March 18, 2026

Jordan Villanueva responds to Editor Eric Black's editorial on mission and doctrine with an explanation of doctrinally informed mission.

Commentary: Is war ever justified?

March 18, 2026

Jim Lemons describes the six principles of just war theory and evaluates the current U.S.-Israeli war with Iran in light of those principles.

Editorial: Mission, not doctrine,

should drive the train

March 18, 2026

Mission and doctrine each have their place, and they need to be kept in their right place to move the train down the track in joy.

Voices: Words of grace in times of rage, Part 1

March 18, 2026

When his church members became upset over his social media posts, Joshua Sharp realized he needed to change. He tells us how he's doing that.

Voices: Truth and love: Thinking carefully about Sharia and civil law

March 18, 2026

Calling for dignity and truth, retired pastor and missionary David McConkey points to key differences between Sharia and American law.

Editorial: Examining this talk of Armageddon

March 18, 2026

Editor Eric Black examines concerns raised by possible talk of U.S. military action in Iran initiating Armageddon.

Voices: Celebrating Texas Baptists' collaborative ministry

March 18, 2026

Texas Baptists Executive Director Julio Guarneri celebrates 140 years of collaborative ministry across more than 30 institutions.

Voices: 'Intellectual hospitality'

and why it matters

March 18, 2026

Wade Berry describes intellectual hospitality, how it is related to Jesus' command to love, and how to practice it.

Voices: The gift waiting on your doorstep

March 18, 2026

Johnny Teague asks us to imagine opening our front door one morning to find a gift waiting there. But it's not just any gift.