

Commentary: A response to Adam Greenway on inerrancy and integrity

October 7, 2020

Rachel Tedards Keeney, a graduate of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, takes issue with inerrancy in response to Adam Greenway.

Commentary: Inerrancy still matters; so does integrity

October 7, 2020

Adam Greenway, president of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, expresses his commitment to inerrancy and a call to integrity.

Commentary: The call to be truth-bearers

October 7, 2020

For Christians to be truth-bearers requires paying attention to others' agendas and practicing critical thinking.

Commentary: Addiction and surrender: The art of letting go

October 7, 2020

Lawrence Traynor shares what he learned about the importance of unconditional surrender for successfully fighting addiction.

Commentary: COVID-19 and I'm feeling the loss

October 7, 2020

We need to identify, feel and process losses associated with COVID-19, and then we need to see hope in Jesus, says Joshua Gilmore.

Commentary: Voting my conscience in this election may mean staying home

October 7, 2020

While many voters are deciding between either Donald Trump or Joe Biden, Peggy Wehmeyer is considering a third option on November 3.

Commentary: Let's reverse isolation and loneliness for senior adults

October 7, 2020

Chaplain Sara Long points to studies showing the high degree of isolation and loneliness among senior adults and challenges churches to respond.

Commentary: Seeing and caring for unseen children at the border

October 7, 2020

Brenda Kirk, after being changed by Leviticus 19:33-34, challenges readers to engage with Scripture's teaching about child refugees.

Commentary: QAnon: The alternative religion that's coming to your church

October 7, 2020

Added to the challenge of being a pastor in a pandemic is the rise of QAnon and its assault on traditional sources of truth and authority.

Commentary: Whose religious freedom is Donald Trump protecting?

October 7, 2020

Bill Jones, retired executive director of Texas Baptists Committed, responds to Rev. Ramiro Peña's op-ed on Trump and religious freedom.

Commentary: Hope: Parenting a special needs child with a history of trauma

October 7, 2020

A seasoned child welfare director shares her experience of being a foster parent during the COVID-19 crisis and the need to find help.

Commentary: Symptoms, consequences of and facing alcohol use disorder

October 7, 2020

Lawrence Traynor describes his experience abusing alcohol, including the rationalizations he used to avoid admitting he had a problem. And he offers hope.