

Commentary: Juneteenth: Speaking our uncomfortable truths

June 18, 2025

Juneteenth is personal for Rev. Kip Bernard Banks Sr., whose family is connected to Confederate Galveston and the horror of slavery.

---

Commentary: When freedom rings in Texas, will it reach Bethlehem?

June 18, 2025

Jack Nassar, a Palestinian Christian, considers Juneteenth in light of the situation on the ground in Palestine.

---

Commentary: Thinking about

what you think about

June 18, 2025

Kendall Lyons encourages Christians to biblically evaluate what they think and believe to see if it squares with God's will for them.

---

Commentary: Supporting religious freedom part of God's mission

June 18, 2025

Wissam al-Saliby, president of 21Wilberforce, explains how supporting religious freedom around the world is part of God's mission.

---

Commentary: The gospel for every body, including intersex and transgender

June 18, 2025

Taylor Standridge examines the fraught intersection between Christian theology, Christian practice and gender identity.

---

Commentary: When conservatives eat liberals' medicine

June 18, 2025

Chris Backert responds to Eric Black's editorial, contending conservatives and liberals both now filter information through the lens of suspicion.

---

Commentary: Why anti-Christian persecution demands our collective action

June 18, 2025

"While our national discourse rightfully condemns Islamophobia and antisemitism, the systematic persecution of Christians around the world receives only a fraction of our collective outrage."

---

Commentary: The weapon of faith in Russia's war on Ukraine

June 18, 2025

A Ukrainian minister describes how Russian evangelicals are being deployed as part of Russia's war strategy in Ukraine.

---

Commentary: How to be a son: Rediscovering identity in God's design

June 18, 2025

Kendall Lyons, whose father died recently, explores the sometimes complicated and always important father-son relationship.

---

Commentary: Being the man needed in times like these

June 18, 2025

His boyhood experience nearly left him bitter, broken and confused, but the Lord used it to make him a better man.

---

Commentary: Three principles for sowing the gospel amid opposition

June 18, 2025

Canadian Baptist leader and church planter explains three practical principles of sowing the gospel and illustrates them in practice.

---

Commentary: Clarifying complementarity biblically

June 18, 2025

Lauren Roberts Lukefahr and Christine Crawford examine a biblical definition of a term in the center of much recent controversy.