

Commentary: SBC resolutions on war, Oct. 7 fail biblical test

June 12, 2024

A Baptist in the Middle East criticizes a resolution on the Israel-Hamas war adopted by SBC messengers at their 2024 annual meeting.

Commentary: Why add Nicene Creed to our confession?

June 12, 2024

The four Southern Baptists moving to add the Nicene Creed to the Baptist Faith and Message respond to questions about their motion.

Commentary: A different letter to college freshmen

June 12, 2024

An adolescent and young adult therapist and Baptist Standard reader pens a letter to college freshmen in response to a previous letter.

Commentary: Stay focused, Baylor

June 12, 2024

A Baylor University graduate responds to the Baylor Board of Regents' recent decision to amend the university's motto.

Commentary: SBC CEO on the Law Amendment

June 12, 2024

Jeff Iorg, new president and CEO of the SBC Executive Committee, gives a thorough explanation of his opposition to the Law Amendment.

Commentary: Three concerns about the Law Amendment

June 12, 2024

The Tennessee convention executive director voices his opposition to the so-called Law Amendment up for a second vote this summer.

Commentary: The significance of prayer for believers

June 12, 2024

“Christians continue to be transformed by the Lord and find the solitude and comfort he supplies through such actions as prayer.”

Commentary: Christians must confront weaponization of a sacred promise

June 12, 2024

A Palestinian Christian challenges particular uses of God’s promise to Abraham, calling for “embodying the grace Jesus showed to all.”

Commentary: 10 reasons not to do VBS in your church

June 12, 2024

David Johnson, executive director of Arizona Mission Network of Southern Baptists, gives 10 good reasons not to do Vacation Bible School.

Commentary: ‘Christian nationalism’ is not the most perilous part

June 12, 2024

Matthew Taylor describes the prominent theological positions advancing Christian nationalism and sounds a warning about their aims.

Commentary: A Palestinian Christian's call to confront Zionism

June 12, 2024

A Palestinian Christian critiques Zionism and its claims to fulfilling biblical prophecy, while also affirming the rights of Jewish people.

Commentary: Mohler, abortion abolitionists don't take sin seriously enough

June 12, 2024

"True accountability requires communal accountability," Karen Swallow Prior writes in her critique of Mohler and abortion abolitionists.