

Editorial: What are our children learning from us in these difficult times?

June 24, 2020

Our children are taking in and learning from everything going on around them. Editor Eric Black challenges us to be mindful of what we are teaching them.

Commentary: Man rescues police officer from burning car, explains why

June 24, 2020

Jim Denison shares the story of Daylan McLee and why he pulled a police officer from a burning car as an example of the commandment to love one another.

Voices: Children, the culture war and the cross

June 24, 2020

Joshua Sharp responds to Kevin DeYoung's call to Christians to fight the culture war through procreation, arguing the gospel calls for a different strategy.

Devah Pittman: 'Rural healthcare is my passion'

June 24, 2020

Devah Pittman, a licensed and certified physician assistant in Clarendon, Texas, shares her background and thoughts on being a Christian in healthcare.

Voices: Are houses of worship essential? A look at the science

June 24, 2020

Despite being the last thing an epidemiologist might do, according to the

New York Times, research indicates the overwhelming benefits of church involvement.

Voices: Re-opening public schools: The things we do for our kids

June 24, 2020

Re-opening schools during the coronavirus pandemic is a difficult conversation, but educational inequities provide strong reason to figure out how.

Voices: Juneteenth: Remembering the past, acting toward the future

June 24, 2020

Rev. Dr. Ryan Sutton calls for more than remembrance and celebration on Juneteenth. He calls the church to embody its prophetic role.

Editorial: Disease and dis-ease: Facing the storm head-on

June 24, 2020

The times feel like being on a ship at sea in a storm, like the world is heaving under our feet. We must face the waves head-on.

Voices: ‘I hope I’m not late, but I’m here with you now’

June 24, 2020

On his way to a conversation on race, Pastor Steve Graves found himself stuck in construction traffic, an experience that became a word picture.

Commentary: Police reform

order, Dr. Fauci's prediction, awareness and hope

June 24, 2020

Jim Denison seeks to create further awareness of the longstanding issue of racism in the United States and the transforming hope the gospel offers.

Voices: Wear your mask this time

June 24, 2020

Matt Snowden, the senior pastor of First Baptist Church in Waco, brings humor to the call to wear face masks when attending worship in person.

Voices: Waiting times or wasted times? A theology of time in a pandemic

June 24, 2020

While we watch the calendar and the clock, are we making the best use of the time? Jim Lemons explores this question and how it matters for how we live.