

Letter: Voices: The light through Christmas depression

January 13, 2026

A Baptist Standard reader responds to an opinion article about facing depression during Christmas.

Voices: Unencumbered: Cleaning out the garage

January 13, 2026

“Cleaning out the garage over the holidays, I had time to think about ‘stuff,’ and the new year,” Ruth Cook begins.

Voices: Like a cow lifts a calf

January 13, 2026

Pastor, author, and rancher Johnny Teague sees something of spiritual significance in an experience he had with a struggling calf.

Editorial: Carry the gospel in a disorienting world

January 13, 2026

Nigeria, Venezuela, Minneapolis, and elsewhere, the gospel is good news, and we are called to carry it in and for this world.

Voices: Point/Counterpoint: Christians and the Court

January 13, 2026

Jack Goodyear contends politics, not religion, has led to a Supreme Court more accepting of strong executive authority.

Voices: Point/Counterpoint:

Catholics and the Court

January 13, 2026

Leon Blevins contends Catholics on the U.S. Supreme Court are more accepting of strong executive authority.

Editorial: We don't really want a perfect Christmas

January 13, 2026

We don't really want a perfect Christmas. We think we do. But we don't. Not if we stop and think about it.

Voices: A Christmas trek

January 13, 2026

Johnny Teague contemplates Mary and Joseph's "long, arduous journey" and Jesus' even more profound trek through life, death and life again.

Commentary: Disciple-making: Tensions in Baptist identity, Part 8

January 13, 2026

Wade Berry concludes his series examining the gifts of Baptist distinctives and some of the challenges they face.

Editorial: Christmas points beyond common decency

January 13, 2026

“Jesus knew all about the state of this troubled world and chose to live in it with us anyway. Think about that as you read the news today.”

Commentary: Brazil: From mission field to mission force

January 13, 2026

Diego Silva explains how Christianity is changing in Brazil and what that may mean for the rest of the world.

Commentary: Local autonomy: Tensions in Baptist identity, Part 7

January 13, 2026

Wade Berry considers how the somewhat straightforward concept of local autonomy has resulted in complications for Baptists.