

Lost ring prompts prayer for lost souls

November 16, 2012

A lost wedding ring gave Cari D. Johnson an opportunity to reflect on how urgently we should search for the spiritually lost.

“I’m praying they opt for fast food ... or they pray and fast.”

2nd Opinion: Election serves notice to church

November 16, 2012

For me, watching the election coverage was less about politics than it was a realization of the power of demographics. When I read about what some call the Millennial generation, I see the future of the American church—a future more present than many seem to realize.

Quotes in the News

November 16, 2012

“I would rather be able to appreciate things I cannot have than to have things I am not able to appreciate.” -Elbert Hubbard

Cost of discipleship

November 16, 2012

STUDENT MISSIONS BLOG: I have seen God work in a very different way in the lives of the students—differently than I have ever seen or experienced before.

Frustration

November 16, 2012

For a couple of weeks, I've been having long conversations with a friend of mine who is a Buddhist.

Learning about love

November 16, 2012

Lately, I've been learning a lot about love and what it truly looks like to love others the way that God loves.

Beauty covered in grime

November 16, 2012

The Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe and French fries—that's about all I knew about Paris before I went there.

Let God do it

November 16, 2012

Things have been kind of hard here lately. We've been here for more than two months, and we've done a lot of good work. But sometimes I wish we could see more fruit.

Empathy & the common good

November 16, 2012

EDITORIAL: Hurricane Sandy wreaked destruction on the Caribbean and the Eastern Seacoast, but at least she left one positive development in her wake.

DOWN HOME: All roads lead to you-know-where

November 16, 2012

If I had thought about it in time, I would have proposed Texas Baptists hold all their annual meetings somewhere along Interstate 35 or Interstate 37 south of Austin.

Right or Wrong? American

exceptionalism

November 16, 2012

"American exceptionalism" has crept into campaign rhetoric and also is proliferated by Christians. Isn't it an expression of civil religion that can turn our nation into an idol?
