

Voices: Doctrinal alignment, affinity and agreement

October 20, 2025

Josh King, pastor of Valley Ridge Church (FBC Lewisville), responds to and expands on BGCT Executive Director Julio Guarneri's weekly update.

Editorial: A shout out to bivocational ministers

October 20, 2025

For Pastor Appreciation Month, I'm giving a shout out to bivocational ministers—men and women. You amaze me.

Commentary: Idols and Christian nationalism, Part 1

October 20, 2025

Nick Acker puts a magnifying glass up to Christian nationalism and the state, examining them in the light of Scripture and the church.

Commentary: Tensions in Baptist identity, Part 1

October 20, 2025

Wade Berry examines components of Baptist identity, asking hard questions about their biblical basis and their consequences today.

Editorial: Tony Evans, Robert Morris and restoration

October 20, 2025

Two Dallas-area megachurch pastors who made the news during the last week give us a chance to think about how we respond when pastors sin.

Voices: The broken cord of truth

October 20, 2025

"I am not writing about my truth or your truth. There is no such subjective thing. There is only the truth," Johnny Teague declares.

Voices: It takes a community to serve a community

October 20, 2025

Stacy Conner points to the shared ministry of funerals as an example of how the body of Christ puts the gospel into action.

Editorial: There's only one litmus test for a Christian

October 20, 2025

Remembering Jesus is Lord and we are to obey him will guide our way through these divided, conflicted, testing times.

Voices: Jesus died for those we call our enemies

October 20, 2025

Myles Werntz urges Baptists to rethink war, peace, and what it means to follow Christ in a violent world.

Voices: Going the distance in the pastoral life

October 20, 2025

Ron Cook, veteran pastor and professor of pastoral ministry, shares what brought him to ministry and held him fast for the long haul.

Letter: Only two-thirds of U.S.

Christians believe all have sinned

October 20, 2025

A Baptist Standard reader responds to a report on Barna survey results showing only 66 percent of Christians believe all people have sinned.

Editorial: It's safe to say ... or is it?

October 20, 2025

I expect the world to be an unsafe place right now. I don't expect the church to be. But we are. We can change that.