

Discipleship

August 17, 2011

One of the Bible studies that we led was with the barangay captain's daughters. The barangay captain is kind of like a mayor, and he has a lot of power and influence in the village. So, it was a huge blessing to be able to minister to his family.

Both of his daughters were saved, but they did not understand or seek God's truth. As we led Bible study with them, we were able to show them the truth. Before, these young women did not read their Bibles. But since we started doing Bible study with them, they have been reading their Bibles more for themselves. Praise God!

Liz Tadlock, a student at Texas A&M University, served with a mission team in the Philippines.