

New York City: At the name of Jesus

January 15, 2020

Student missions blog: I had to depend solely on God to explain who Jesus is, since my words would never be enough. I had to depend solely on the name of Jesus, and his name was more than enough.

---

South Texas: Broken heart and border blessings

January 15, 2020

Student Mission Blog: I came down here to the Texas/Mexico border thinking I wouldn't be able to relate in any way to the people. But God knew why I was placed here.

---

East Asia: Sharing the gospel, encouraging believers

January 15, 2020

A Go Now Mission team served in East Asia over Christmas break, working in a city where more than 1 million college students live and study.

---

Delaware: It's a small world after all

January 15, 2020

Student Missions Blog: Delaware is approximately 1,640 miles from Texas, 7,266 miles from China, 7,976 miles from Taiwan and 964 miles from the Bahamas. However, it all seemed so much closer not long ago.

---

Go Now Orientation Weekend: Prepare hearts and minds

January 15, 2020

Student Missions blog: Go Now Orientation Weekend was life-changing. I thought I knew pretty much how everything was going to go. Then I allowed myself to learn and grow.

---

Discovery Weekend: It lives up to its name

January 15, 2020

Student Missions blog: I had my plan already in mind. I would go on a trip close to home, one that was inexpensive and convenient for me. In my mind, the only discovery I would be making was finding a way to go on the trip I had my mind set on. Less than two days later, I had discovered so much more.

---

Tacoma: Deep conversation in a mall food court

January 15, 2020

Student Missions Blog: We were tasked to walk around the mall and find a person we could engage in a meaningful conversation. Out of the 200 or so people at the food court, a young woman in a bright yellow hoodie eating alone at the end managed to grab my attention.

---

Haiti: God is there

January 15, 2020

Student Missions Blog: It has been nine years post-earthquake, and Haiti is still recovering from it. A lot of people in the rural areas do not have access to basic medical care. So, meeting their needs and being able to help alleviate some of their pain was gratifying.

---

New York: Ministry on the bus to the airport

January 15, 2020

Student Missions Blog: I have a heart for children and babies. Throughout the week in New York, I never really got the opportunity to work with young kids. Even though I had an amazing week, I felt like something was missing.

---

Tacoma: Created with purpose

January 15, 2020

Student Missions Blog: When we went Christmas caroling around the community, I was able to talk with a high school student. ... When we got to a point in the conversation where I brought up Jesus, he told me he had issues in truly knowing whether God is real.

---

Ukraine: The most important gift of all

January 15, 2020

Student Missions Blog: A shoe delivery to an orphanage was delayed, but that didn't stop student missionaries from giving orphaned children gifts of time and attention.

---

Jamaica: Surrounded

January 15, 2020

Student Missions Blog: Standing in the midst of the Harmons in Jamaica, I felt as though I was surrounded. I felt surrounded by poverty, by brokenness, by emptiness.