

Mexico: In need of hope

July 20, 2012

It was a beautiful, amazing, and exhausting day. We got to play with the kids at the orphanage.

---

Cuba: Allowing the Spirit to speak

July 20, 2012

I've had a blast living among the Cuban people. They are really fun to be around, and they want their families to know Christ.

---

Colorado: The gift of servanthood

July 20, 2012

Not long ago, my partner, Gabby, and I grilled hamburgers and hot dogs for more than 130 people for Pursuit Church in Fort Collins, Colo., after Sunday worship

---

Philadelphia: Eight stops for Jesus

July 20, 2012

Ever feel like the best place to share the gospel might just be while you're in transit, on your way to share it somewhere else?

---

Love as God loves

July 20, 2012

When we pulled up to the orphanage and got out of the car, I almost started crying.

---

Found faithful

July 20, 2012

By definition, "faithful" means loyal, constant, and steadfast. To be honest, there most definitely have been times in my life where I would not use those words to describe myself. But I'm learning.

---

Genuine trumps polite

July 20, 2012

I have been incredibly humbled to be in this great city of Philadelphia. I came into this ready to be shut down, intimidated and in fear of the people. Making assumptions is never a positive start, and I learned the error of my ways pretty soon.

---

Culture shock in Cuba

July 20, 2012

The humid warm weather, palm trees and dark red dirt captured my attention as we left the airport upon our arrival in Havana.

---

Making friends in Thailand

July 20, 2012

My first time in a Thai church made a deep impression on me.

---

God still moves

July 20, 2012

It's a joy to be able to take a group of girls from Texas Baptist Children's Home to camp at Glorieta, N.M.

---

Ministering to deaf refugees

July 20, 2012

I never thought God would use my American Sign Language skills in a summer missions experience with refugees in Fort Worth, but the Lord has a way of bringing things together.

---

Mission Denton: Making Disciples

July 20, 2012

My first impressions of Mission Denton were not what I had imagined. It actually turned out to be much more intensive than I had originally thought—which is great!