

Voices: Under siege? Turn the battle over to God

March 24, 2021

Aaron Cobbs encourages Christians to let God fight for them as they face the challenges posed by a chaotic world.

New doubts over Southern Baptists' limits on women's roles

March 24, 2021

Among women belonging to churches affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, many have questioned the faith's gender-role doctrine and more recently urged a stronger response to disclosures of sexual abuse perpetrated by some SBC clergy.

Jeff Warren: Sermon for Day of Unity and Justice

March 24, 2021

Jeff Warren, senior pastor of Park Cities Baptist Church in Dallas, recounted Herbert Howard's annual sermon titled "Everybody, Somebody." Howard, pastor of Park Cities Baptist Church from 1948 to 1978, led the church through the Civil Rights era. (Micah 6:1-8)

Lisa Ramirez: My students are 'more than just a class'

March 24, 2021

Lisa Ramirez, a deaf education teacher for Lubbock Independent School District, shares her thoughts on being a Christian in public education.

Voices: Justice looks like a church playground where all can play

March 24, 2021

Dr. Joe Rangel contends justice is sometimes corrective action, a view shaped by a painful childhood memory at church and Micah 6:8.

Georgia church condemns 'wicked' actions of member

March 24, 2021

Elders at Crabapple First Baptist Church condemned both the “extreme and wicked” actions of a church member who has been charged with killing eight people in a series of shootings, calling them a direct contradiction of his professed faith in Christ.

Maston Lecture: Christians show love by listening

March 24, 2021

The Bible calls Christians to be people of the truth who know their neighbors and love them well, Mandy McMichael told ETBU students. And listening is a profound act of Christian love, she emphasized.

Editorial: Thousands of minors: What if Jesus tells us to feed them?

March 24, 2021

Editor Eric Black asks, “What would you do if 3,000 people came to you, and Jesus told you to feed them?” He considers possible responses.

Baylor reckons with ‘painful information’ about founders

March 24, 2021

As a commission created to examine Baylor University’s history examined some of its early leaders’ views on race, participants wrestled with “painful information” about the school’s founders.

West Dallas ministry grieves

losses due to COVID-19

March 24, 2021

One year into the COVID-19 pandemic, leaders of Brother Bill's Helping Hand ministry in West Dallas not only mourn the untold number of neighbors they serve whose lives were claimed by the virus, but also 10 deaths even closer to home.

Voices: You can make an impact on human trafficking

March 24, 2021

Jay Abernathy shares troubling statistics about human trafficking and practical ways he's learned to combat it.

Pastor Bryan Carter: A Call for Justice

March 24, 2021

Pastor Bryan Carter, senior pastor of Concord Church in Dallas, reminded his hearers of John Lewis' work in racial justice and his encouragement to find "good trouble." (Micah 6:8)