

Pastors burned out and exhausted, but that can change

October 14, 2024

The decline of organized religion, the aftermath of a worldwide pandemic, political polarization—and the burden of caring for their congregation's soul—have left many clergy feeling burned out and wondering how long they can hang on.

---

Scholars share new findings on evangelicalism and mission

October 14, 2024

Scholars from around the globe, hosted by Baylor's Institute for Studies of Religion, met virtually to discuss evangelicalism and missions.

---

Hoogstra led Christian higher ed through decade of change

October 14, 2024

After 10 years of leading the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities, Shirley Hoogstra has a new title: president emerita.

---

Faith leaders key to providing access to mental health care

October 14, 2024

When it comes to mental health, “too blessed to be stressed” isn’t an altogether helpful catchphrase, according to the American Psychiatric Association.

---

Views about Latino voters’ faith often distorted

October 14, 2024

As reporters and pundits seek to understand the Latino voting bloc, they’re digging into the faith of Hispanic communities. But some narratives distort the big picture of Latino faith.

---

Successful leaders accept help, says Joni Eareckson Tada

October 14, 2024

Good leaders often are told to play to their strengths and hide their weaknesses. That really never has worked for disability activist and nonprofit leader Joni Eareckson Tada.

---

Gen Z fearful, but Scripture reduces anxiety, study shows

October 14, 2024

Generation Z, the first to grow up with smartphones and tablets, is the most fearful and anxious of any age, the American Bible Society said in its latest release from the 2024 State of the Bible.

---

Most hit worship songs are a team effort

October 14, 2024

Many of the most successful worship songs have become more associated with the churches that produced them than the songwriters who wrote them.

---

Ohio State football players lead on-campus baptism service

October 14, 2024

More than 60 students were baptized during a special on-campus service at Ohio State University on Aug. 26. A group of Buckeye players were among those who helped lead the event, which reportedly attracted a crowd of more than 800 people.

---

‘Strawberry Fields’ inspiration bears Salvation Army fruit

October 14, 2024

Let me take you down to Strawberry Fields. No, not the memorial in New York’s Central Park to the former Beatle John Lennon.

---

Steven Curtis Chapman reflects on the next chapter

October 14, 2024

The applause never has died for Steven Curtis Chapman, but the 37 years since his first album have brought a lot of chapters for a career now in its fifth decade. There have been goals met, and there have been curveballs.

---

Latino evangelicals push for immigration reform ahead of election

October 14, 2024

On Good Friday, Pastor Tony Suarez, founder of Revival Makers, drove a stake into the ground in the middle of a tent in McAllen.